These backtests shows the standard MACD sample EA, which ships with metatrader, backtested on 10 pips Renko bars. All parameters are out of the box. As you can see, tests are very interesting and promising. These are backtests since beginning of 2009 till now.

Standard Renko backtest:

Renko's with wicks:

Please note that backtest result is different for both of them. This is because a real price action contains wicks and they must be regenerated during the backtest.
